

My Right to Decide

Are you an organisation that provides support to people with intellectual disability in accommodation settings?

The My Right to Decide project provides training and resources to help build the decision making confidence of people with intellectual disability and their supporters.

Our training can assist people with an intellectual disability to:

- ✔ Build their decision making skills
- ✔ Know their rights
- ✔ Identify best support
- ✔ Share their will and preferences

My Right to Decide works with people with disability, their support workers and families.

If you are interested in My Right to Decide training for people with intellectual disability, please contact Cathy at cathy@cid.org.au or 1800 424 065.

➔ What is supported decision making?

We make many decisions every day. We often ask others for support to make decisions.

For many people with intellectual disability, decisions are made for them when in fact they have the right to make decisions with the right support.

➔ What is Council for Intellectual Disability (CID)?

CID is a disability rights organisation led by members with intellectual disability. CID has a very clear purpose: we want a community where all people with intellectual disability are valued. We work to build a community that protects rights, includes everyone and supports people well.

Find out more at www.cid.org.au

This project was funded under the Australian Government's Information Linkages and Capacity Building program.