

Dear Premier

Dear Leader of the Opposition,

Actions speak louder than words.

We need action from our leaders to make government more inclusive for people with intellectual disability and for all people with disability.

The NSW Government is not doing enough about disability inclusion.

Disability inclusion needs to be part of all decisions the government makes and at the centre of government.

Right now, the Department of Communities and Justice (DCJ) are responsible for disability inclusion. This implies that disability is only an issue for social services to think about.

We think that disability inclusion is much more important than that. It should be part of all the decisions the government makes.

We ask you to commit to making government much more accessible for people with intellectual disability and we ask you to move the leadership of disability inclusion to the Department of Premier and Cabinet.

I look forward to your response,

Let's Make Inclusion Happen. Everyday for everyone.

Thank you.
