Final report of the Disability Royal Commission

The Disability Royal Commission is planning to give their final report this week.

We call them DRC for short.

People with disability told the DRC about

- Neglect
- Abuse
- Violence
- Exploitation. This is when people make you do things you do not want to do

Some of our members and staff gave evidence to the DRC.

When the report comes out we will write what we think on our website and social media.

Easy Read Guide to the Uluru Statement from the Heart

CID made an Easy Read Guide to the Uluru Statement from the Heart with First Peoples Disability Network.

Link: <https://cid.org.au/resource/easy-read-uluru-statement/>

The Uluru Statement from the Heart was written by a group of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people.

It helped bring about the referendum on the Voice to Parliament.

You need to vote in the referendum.

The vote is on 14 October.

CID's Easy Read research article

CID wrote a research article in Easy Read.

Our article 'Equal Right to Decide' is about human rights and decision making in Australia.

We wrote it with people with intellectual disability.

It is the first international peer-reviewed Easy Read research journal article.

A video message to the NSW Guardianship working group

The NSW government set up a group to look at changing the law about guardianship.

Guardianship means another person has the right to make a decision for you under the law.

The person who makes the decision is called a guardian.

The group has people from community groups and government groups.

CID shared this video to remind the group that people with disability have to be at the centre of all the work the group does.

Easy Read eNews – September 2023

We want them to listen to us and the things we want to change.

Watch Alexander talk about why we want a new law to support people with intellectual disability to make their own decisions.
